Spanish ham croquettes

Ingredients

- 50 g Butter
- Oil
- 50 g Onion
- 50 g Ham
- 45 g Wheat flour
- 125 ml Milk
- 125 ml Ham broth
- Nutmeg
- Salt and pepper
- Breadcrumbs
- 1 Egg

Directions

- 1 Chop the onion and sauté in a pan with the butter and a bit of oil so it doesn't burn.
- 2 Add the minced ham and stir.
- 3 Now add the flour and a pinch of nutmeg and cook for a bit.
- 4 Add the milk first and, when it thickens, add the broth. Work until you get a smooth, uniform dough. When the dough slides off a silicone spoon (with bigger amounts it pulls away from the side of the pot) it's done.
- 5 Let it cool in the refrigerator overnight and then form the croquettes.
- 6 Coat in egg and breadcrumbs and fry fully covered in oil.

Russian salad

Ingredients

- 500 g Potatoes
- 150 g Pickled vegetables
- 15-20 Olives
- 150 g Tuna (fresh or canned)
- 2 Eggs
- Mayonnaise
- Salt

Directions

- 1 Boil the eggs and potatoes and let them cool down.
- 2 Dice the potatoes into small cubes and chop the rest of the ingredients.
- 3 Dress the salad with mayonnaise and salt.

Ajoarriero cod

Ingredients

- 1 Onion
- 1 Green pepper
- 1 Red pepper
- 2 Teaspoons Pimiento Choricero (sweet sun-dried pepper)
- 4 Pieces of cod
- 2 Garlic cloves
- 1 Cup tomato sauce
- Virgin olive oil
- Cayenne peppers
- Salt
- Pepper

Directions

- 1 Remove the seeds from the choricero dried pepper and soak it in water to rehydrate it. If you don't have choricero pepper you can substitute it with another kind of sun-dried pepper or a spoon of paprika.
- 2 Cut the onion and peppers into julienne strips and the garlic cloves into slices, and sauté everything together in a frying pan with the olive oil.
- 3 Add the choricero pepper flesh as a paste, the tomato sauce and the cayenne peppers, and let it all cook together for a few minutes to integrate the flavours.
- 4 Clean the cod by removing the skin and bones. Put it on top of the vegetable sauce and cook until the fish is done.

Black rice

Ingredients

- 750 g Squid
- 6 Garlic cloves
- Parsley
- 3 Ripe red tomatoes, grated
- 1 tsp sweet paprika
- 2 packs of squid or cuttlefish ink (8 g)
- 125 g Extra virgin olive oil
- 300 g Rice
- 750 Fumet (fish stock)
- Salt

Directions

- 1 Put the garlic cloves, the parsley, 100 g of oil and some salt in the blender jar and blend into a thick sauce (green sauce).
- 2 Clean the squid and cut it into 1 cm squares.
- 3 Heat the pan with the remaining oil and cook the squid for a bit. Then add the green sauce and, after a minute, the paprika. Finally add the grated tomato and let it reduce.
- 4 Now add the squid ink and the salt, then the rice. Mix and cook for a minute so the rice absorbs all the flavours.
- 5 Add the very hot broth and boil for 8 minutes over medium-high heat. Do NOT stir the rice, but you can shake the pan.

- ⑥ Place the paella in the preheated oven at 250 °C and cook for another 8 minutes.
- ⑦ Put the paella back on the stove to make the socarrat (the crispy golden layer at the bottom).
- ⑧ Finally, let the rice rest for 10 minutes before serving.

Tips for the rice

- 1 The fumet is very important, since it is what gives the rice most of its flavour. The broth is prepared by sautéing leeks, peppers, garlic and parsley, seafood (prawn heads, crayfish, ...) and fish. It is best to use rockfish: small and full of bones, not very good to eat but with excellent flavour for the broth. Add water and cook for about 20 minutes. Strain, put it back on the heat and let it reduce to a third.
- 2 For Spanish paellas and rice dishes we use short, round-grain rice, which absorbs the taste of the broth well. The most common types in Spain are Bomba, Bahía and Senia. Arborio and Carnaroli are more suitable for risotto, but can also be used. Long-grain rice such as Basmati or Jasmine is not appropriate, as it doesn't absorb the flavours and the rice will be tasteless.
- 3 Each variety of rice absorbs a different amount of water, so it is advisable to always work with the same rice and adjust the recipe.
- 4 The pan for cooking the paella has to be large and flat. Cooked rice should not be more than 1.5 cm thick.
